7. Who Receives Access to the Data

We share your personal data with:

- The client. The client is usually an organization with which you are considered for a position, and which has ordered a background check. Once the client has received the report, they are independently responsible as the data controller for their subsequent processing of the personal data in the report, for example, when using the information as a basis for assessment in employment decisions or when storing it in their own recruitment system.
- The educational institution. In cases where we need to contact the educational institution to verify information you have provided to us. We only share the data required to enable the verification.
- Our service providers. Service providers who process personal data on our behalf, such as IT providers for the operation/hosting of our systems. These parties may only process personal data in accordance with our instructions.

8. Storage Period

The client has access to your personal data for 14 days from the date the report is delivered (unless otherwise agreed). After this, the client's access is automatically removed. Talentwise AB retains the personal data processed as part of the background check for up to 24 months after the report has been delivered. This longer storage period is needed, among other things, to be able to handle any objections and complaints.

9. Transfer to Third Countries

Our services normally do not involve any transfer of personal data outside the EU/EEA. In some cases, such a transfer may still be necessary, for example, when we verify education issued by educational institutions in countries outside the EU/EEA. If the country to which the data needs to be sent lacks an adequacy decision from the European Commission, we only carry out the transfer after you have given explicit consent according to Article 49.1 a of the GDPR. Before you consent, we inform you about the risks that may be associated with the transfer. The transfer takes place solely for the specific purpose of verifying your education and with the minimum necessary amount of data.

When conducting background checks that include social media searches, we use a subcontractor based in the United States. The transfer of your personal data (primarily identification data required to conduct the search) to the US is carried out on the basis of the European Commission's adequacy decision (EU-U.S. Data Privacy Framework), as the provider is certified under this framework. This means that your personal data is guaranteed a level of protection equivalent to that applicable within the EU/EEA.

- Right to data portability. According to Article 20 of the GDPR, you have the right to receive the personal data you have provided to us yourself in a structured, commonly used, and machine-readable format.
- Right to object. According to Article 21 of the GDPR, you have the right to object to the processing of your personal data based on our balancing of interests (Article 6.1 f). We will
